GEORGETOWN AFFAIRS

PECK MEMORIAL CHURCH RECEIVES GIFT OF $20,000.

Geo. W. Cissel Confined to His Bed—Old C. A. C. Boat House Being Demolished.

Through the generosity of a Washington lady, a gift of $20,000, not delivered, Peck Memorial Church is the recipient of $20,000, a portion of which sum is to be appropriated in obtaining athletic features to interest boys under religious influence. The entire sum, it is stated, was contributed by the lady in question, but one of the provisions of the donation is that the name of the donor shall not be disclosed.

The gift was made with the object of providing such features as will be calculated to divert the boys' attention away from the baneful influences of the world and to make the church a more attractive institution. This is believed to be one of the most effective methods by which the young boy, who might otherwise give in to corrupt and criminal influences, can be educated under highly Christian influences.

The Baist Company of Philadelphia has just issued a new map of the District of Columbia and outlying counties, showing all the latest railroad routes. The map is welcomed by real estate and business men generally, who for many years have been compelled to use an old map, attempting to cover this field, which was published about ten years ago.

The funeral of Lizzie I. Tucker took place yesterday from her late residence, corner 33d and P streets northwest. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Tucker was a daughter of the late Thomas Knowles, one of the prominent citizens of Georgetown. Officer Law of the 7th precinct station, who is stationed in Tenleytown, was in the vicinity of Alexander Yowell's house about 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning and came upon a dog which displayed signs of the rabies. The officer promptly shot the animal and reported the matter to headquarters.

Building Collapsed.
The building located at 3330 N street northwest, owned by James K. Forrest, collapsed at an early hour yesterday morning. Fortunately no one in the building at the time was injured. The damage probably will be about $100.

Mr. George W. Cissel is very ill at his home, "Oak Crest," on 31st street northwest, in Georgetown. For many years Mr. Cissel has been a resident of Georgetown and is deeply respected. He has held many places of trust. He is from an old Maryland family, which originally located in Howard county, Md., and for many years has been at the head of the Arlington Flour Mills of Georgetown.

Rev. Jeremiah Butler has been assigned to the new colored church on Canal road, which was formerly occupied by the Little Falls M. E. Church congregation. Rev. Butler expects to move to the new church, the church of the colored population of that section, and states that the outlook is promising for a large congregation.

The old Columbia Athletic Club boat house, a relic of former days, at the foot of 32d street, has been condemned by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. The building, which was built in 1880, is in a state of decay and is being torn away. More recently the structure has been used for the Georgetown boat house. The principal argument made that it prevented either ingress or egress up to the wharves. The Georgetown club, it is understood, will not be allowed to use the building and will secure other more commodious quarters.

The college building which is now being constructed by the Sisters of the Holy Ann's Academy will be dedicated, it is stated, in the month of October. The original purchase amounted to $20,000, and when the building is completed the property will be worth in the neighborhood of $50,000. The new institution similar to those pursued in the schools at Terre Haute. The post-graduate course will also be added to the curriculum.

Merchants and business men on High street have addressed a letter to the District Commissioners in regard to the need for improvement on T street northwest, and asking for the immediate expenditure of $2,000 appropriated for the purpose several months ago.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual Sunday school excursion of the Trinity Catholic Church some time during the early part of August.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.
Dr. Arbelly's Claim Against E. F. Price & Co.

Proceedings at law to recover $700 were instituted this afternoon in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia by Dr. A. J. Arbelly, an author of this city, against Samuel M. Darragh and Edwin F. Price, formerly engaged in business as E. F. Price & Co., at 1108 to 1116 E street. It is explained that Dr. Arbelly is a Syrian oriental scholar, and the author of an English-Arabic grammar, which he had printed at great expense, it having been necessary to import the Arabic type used in the printing of the book from the orient. Dr. Arbelly alleges that several months ago he contracted with the defendants to have the latter bind a large number of his books. After making this contract and delivering the books to the firm, it is added, considerable time elapsed without the binding being completed, and the delay continued until last May, when Dr. Arbelly says, on calling at the establishment of the firm, found that its business had apparently been suspended, the premises then being in charge of a colored employee. He further relates that upon a subsequent visit he found that his treasured books had disappeared, and after extended inquiry and search he ascertained that at least a part of them had fallen into the hands of waste paper dealers and had been shipped to a paper mill at Hagerstown, Md., to be manufactured into pulp. Distressed at the thought that he was thus to be deprived of the fruits of his labor, Dr. Arbelly informs the court, he immediately proceeded to Hagerstown, and, after a long and diligent search in the heaps of paper and rags there collected in the store houses of the paper mill company, recovered, in a badly damaged condition, a portion of his property. He sued to recover the value of the books, which, it is alleged, were lost.

The plaintiff is said to be well known as a leader of the Syrians who have emigrated to this country, and has frequently championed their cause by newspaper writings and advocated their claims before the Department of State and at the White House. Attorneys Galen L. Tait and E. F. Colladay represent Dr. Arbelly.
